

Saturday

A/A#

Jesus went away
On a Saturday
my mind went away
On a Saturday

Jesus went back
Sunday afternoon
Jesus saw the fact that his rules were disobeyed

D/C/A#/C

All the rules of the King were disappeared
And the Christians forgot their duty
They thought the different ones to be the same
In order to save their souls to heaven

He suddenly started crying
In his garden of love
He remembered the things he thought and said
And let the sun shine again

The people didn't learn
They only changed their ways
But Jesus was still hoping
That love would win the struggle

All the rules of the king were said again
And the people tried to do their best
But some of them still didn't obey
But the king loves them too
