

Way of life

I went down the old river
Crossed the lake and went on
Crossed the forest and the mountains
Away from my hometown

I watched the ships sailing away
I enjoyed the beauty of the bay
Saw fishermen doing their jobs
Saw their proud faces in the sun

I painted the warm mornin' sun
I drew her lines into my brain
I felt my blood getting warm
When the fog disappeared

I crossed the highlands in the rain
And swam in lakes, beauty as can be
I tasted sweet red wine
When the sun didn't shine

I met people poor but friendly
With their faces up to heaven
I shared my bread with them
It tasted like life and love

I sang my songs in the rain
And lived the beauty and the pain
But all these troubles and pain
Can't kill the beauty of the life
